Ponder Action On Gov. Fine's Request

Harrisburg, Feb. 2 (AP)—The Legislature's research agency was undecided today whether to heed Gov. John S. Fine's request for a study of truck weight limits in Pennsylvania.

The governor asked the joint state government commission to undertake the study after he vetoed a disputed bill boosting truck weight limits. A commission spokesman said the agency wants to find out the cost of such a study before it makes a decision.

The spokesman said also the agency wants to determine whether a cooperative study of truck weight affects on roads now under way in Maryland would eliminate the need for a separate commission study.

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today he will carry the banner of President Truman in the Minnesota Democratic primary March 18 despite the President's comment that such contests are eye-wash.

Humphrey told a reporter he agrees with President Truman's statement that he can get it without entering any primaries.

AIRPLANE CLUB MEETS MONDAY

Did you ever wonder what keeps an airplane up in the air and what makes it fly?

Those who would like to know the answers to these questions are invited to attend the next meeting of the Gettysburg Model Airplane club which will be held Monday on the third floor of the American Legion building. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. and at its conclusion there will be a showing of three movies secured through the courtesy of the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The first, "Youth Trains for Aviation," shows how our air-minded youth, through their activities in building and flying model airplanes, are learning the fundamental principles of flight; how their brains are creating new types—new wings—even radio controlled planes, thereby building a great reservoir from which will come the hundreds of thousands of designers, pilots, mechanics and aircraftsmen that will be needed for the protection of our country and the development of the vast opportunities of aviation's future.

The second is Part I of "How an Airplane Flies" and concerns itself with "lift." It explains that the action of air passing over a wing section is an extension of the principle of the Venturi tube. It shows how the changes in air pressure upon the upper and lower surfaces of the wing create the upward force which keeps the airplane in the air. It also demonstrates the relation of the angle of the wing to the amount of lift obtained.

The third film is a continuation of the "How an Airplane Flies" series and this part explains "drag." It deals with the resistance of the air to the forward movement of the airplane and shows that streamlining and a small frontal area will minimize "parasite drag" and that a long narrow wing will cut down "induced drag." "Skin friction" is also effectively demonstrated.

There will be no admission charged for these movies and the Gettysburg Model Airplane club extends an invitation to the public to attend this showing.

Washington, Feb. 2 (AP)—Draft quotas for the spring months may be far lower than expected due to a drop in Korea casualties and an increase in enlistments.

This is the latest selective service prediction following a mixup Thursday in which Draft Director Lewis B. Instead of Hershey's original estimate of 90,000 a month, the figure probably will be between 40,000 and 50,000 men called monthly during the period, officials said.

Another reason that dislocations from the defense build-up will be less serious here is that Pennsylvania's industries are better prepared to cope with the bigger production from both military and civilian demand. Pennsylvania industries have expanded their plants and modernized their equipment to a greater extent than industries in any other state. Pennsylvania has been the only state with a record of plant construction in every one of the 20 major classifications of industry during the six years since the Second World war; and since the outbreak of the Korean hostilities, Pennsylvania has led all other states in defense plant construction under federal certificates of necessity.

Revamped GHS Lineup Gains 52-25 Win At Shippensburg

A revised Gettysburg high school lineup paid dividends Friday night as the Warriors cagers snapped a three-game losing streak by easily defeating Shippensburg 52-25 on the latter's court in opening the second half race of the South Penn league.

Coach George Forney used two new starters, Dave Swope and Bill Williams, and the move proved effective as the locals led from start to finish to record their fifth victory of the campaign against eight setbacks.

Playing a tight defensive game, the Warriors gave the Greyhounds but seven points during the entire first half. Rosenberg's pair of goals in the first period being their only field goals.

Off To Fast Start

Gettysburg took a 10-4 lead in the first period on a trio of goals by Jack Bream, one by Skip Pisel and two free tosses by Swope. Pisel connected for five goals in the second frame, Bream added a pair and Williams one to hike the locals' half time score to 26-7. A trio of fouls by Green was the best Shippensburg could offer.

Shippensburg picked up on the offense in the third quarter but was no threat as Bream, Pisel and Williams kept the Warriors well in front with goals.

Substitutes saw considerable action in the last period when John Carter, Gusie Dayhoff and Pisel each accounted for a pair of goals and Swope one while Ott and Green landed the only twin-pointers for Shippensburg.

Pisel and Bream bore the brunt of the attack by tallying 20 and 16 points, respectively.

Ninth Scrub Win

After trailing 7-6 at the end of the first period, the Warrior reserves went ahead 17-13 at half time from where they went on to take the preliminary game 43-24. Ketterman was high man for Ross Sachs' outfit with 13 points. It was the scrubs' ninth win against two reverses.

The Warriors will go after their second straight victory here Tuesday when Carlisle will be their opponent.

East Berlin's high-flying cagers kept their perfect record in the Adams County league clean Friday night by trouncing York Springs 79-36 at East Berlin for their eighth straight loop victory.

All nine of Coach Ellis Diviney's participants broke into the scoring. After East Berlin took a 21-4 lead in the first period there was never any doubt as to the outcome. Hinkle and Lott were the top scorers for their respective teams.

Bolling Springs remained but one game back of the league-leaders by handling Littlestown a 53-31 setback on the Dabblers' floor. Twenty-two points in the opening period and 21 in the third enabled the Bubbler to win handily. Dromgold connected for 14 for the winners while Kearns landed 10 for the Thunderbolts.

Biglerville moved up into fourth place by routing Newville on the latter's floor 51-34. Dick Allison's Cannors roared off to a 27-10 lead in the first half and were never in trouble. Warner and Lower were top for Biglerville while E. Heberlig and J. Heberlig paced Newville.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Feb. 2 (P)—It seems that the old pappy guy, Jersey Joe Walcott, is living up to the finest traditions of the fight game in trying to give Ezzard Charles the go-by in favor of some less ferocious opponent.

Ray Arce, trainer of Charles, tells in an interview with Milt Gross of the New York Post how he sought to talk Tom Tannas, Ezzard's manager, out of giving Walcott another shot at the heavyweight title out in Pittsburgh last July. That was the fight, of course, in which Jersey Joe finally stashed the gizzard.

"What do we need him for?" Arce says he protested to Tannas. "We had enough of him already. The last time he was coming on at the end. We got nothing to gain."

Arce's Statement

To which Arce says Tannas replied: "Walcott can't beat Charles and I want to do Felix (Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager) a favor. He's a friend of mine. This may be the last one for Walcott and they need the money. Felix is broke. I want to give him a chance to make some before he loses his fighter."

Arce is one of the few men connected with boxing whom you may believe without reservation, and if he says that's the way Jersey Joe got his fifth whack at the crown, why that's about the way it was.

The word now is that Tannas and Charles are pretty bitter about the turn of events and that they will enthusiastically join the International Boxing club in slapping a suit on the 38-year-old champ the moment he signs to defend against Harry Matthews or anybody else except Ezzard.

To Get Reminder

The agreement which Walcott signed to give Charles first crack in the event the title changed hands was drawn up by Michael Strauss, the lawyer who first gained fame as Promoter Mike Jacobs' legal beaver. A Strauss document is highly respected in the fistie industry and is not to be dismissed lightly in any circles.

This Bocchicchio appeared to have forgotten when he announced in Washington the other day that Walcott would sign to fight Matthews for $250,000 unless the IBC met the mysterious offer from the west coast. Felix added he would let his lawyer take care of such minor details as the return fight agreement. He had better have a spanking good lawyer.

The non-porous nature of an agreement composed by Strauss undoubtedly will be called to Felix's attention when he meets Jim Norris, president of the IBC, today in Miami. Meantime, Harry Markson, who is the resident head of the boxing firm here during Norris' absence, isn't worried at all.

Hasn't Borrowed

"I think you may safely say that Walcott will defend his title against Charles under our promotion," he remarked, soothingly. "After all, Bocchicchio is an honorable man who will live up to his promise."

After a brief silence, Harry disclosed that Walcott has avoided one pitfall which engulfed Joe Louis and other pugilists in recent years. Jersey Joe hasn't borrowed any money, or, rather, drawn any advances from the boxing cartel since he hit the top. He has continued to live modestly and within his means, though he has found the pickings slim since he became champion.

The present Aga Khan, Moslem leader, is third of his immediate line.

BOOK DIGNITY

I don't see why books can't have dignity the same as their authors. In the early days of book publishing everything about the books showed beauty and dignity. They were not after the first seller list. They were written and made to last. Their very composition was in the finest of taste, carefully and artistically set in type and on the finest of paper.

To handle one of the old early books is a joy in itself. All our modern ideas came from those first books. The simply printed and simply bound, on good stock, are the books that assert their dignity, especially when the contents instruct, inspire, and teach us to live better, happier lives.

A great book cannot be too beautifully printed or bound. There is one little book in my library I love so much that I have purchased every special edition I could get my hands on. Its entire theme is one of dignity, clothed with hope. And so it has been printed in edition after edition, each one beautiful in physical form, most of them being illustrated by noted artists.

It is interesting to note how publishers vie with one another in trying to produce a great book in a more beautiful form than others that have preceded it. This applies to many of our well-known classics. The dignity of a really great book never is lost, however, no matter in what form it is printed.

What dignity there is to the family Bible as it rests upon the table in a home, ever ready to give hope and comfort in times of stress, and at all other times. Many a traveler has found this book an oasis of hope and encouragement as he has turned to it in hotels where the Gideon organization has placed it.

All book lovers, I am sure, look with admiration upon the early illuminated manuscripts and books that the monks created. Many of them were all done by hand, taking long periods to complete. Millions have looked upon them, for each displays a secreted love that joy and patience created. When you put love into anything it mirrors dignity!

THE GROUND HOG
Once of the ground hog it was said,

If he today should leave his bed,
The ground above him to explore,
And see upon the drifted snow
The sun his moving shadow throw,
Of winter there'll be six weeks more.

I know not how it chanced that he
A weather prophet came to be,
Nor why on ground hogs God bestows
A wisdom unto men denied
That they such matters can decide
From shadows on the drifted snows.

Now whether false or true may be
This ancient bit of prophecy,
I cannot with conviction say.
I am not versed in nature well.
It's just a tale I always tell
The children when it's ground hog day.

The man who used to do jigsaw puzzles now tries his hand at parking.

It is true that cars that are run daily in cold weather start more easily than those which stand around for days before being used. The reasons are not always too obvious. Of course, the battery stays charged when the engine is run and the generator is busy but not so apparent is the fact that the carburetor has less time to run dry. This condition can develop from leakage at the base of the jets, or by capillary attraction inside the float bowl causing the fuel to climb up and leak out. An engine that starts easily doesn't load up with raw gasoline and thus has less ring and valve stickage. That, in turn, helps to maintain good compression which is an important ingredient in starting.

There is less "dry" starting when crankings are more frequent. An engine stays better lubricated when it doesn't stand around unused so long.

Noting Some Oddities

When drawing down the cylinder head nuts on one of the current engines it is necessary to loosen one side of the intake manifold.

The brake shoes on one of the popular makes is distinguished by not being uniform, there being cut away sections for better cooling.

Very special tools are now required to remove the spark plugs from one of the new engines.

While Browsing Around
Have you checked over the coil lately? Or are you one to believe that this unit is something that doesn't need any attention?

First make sure that the coil is well grounded. It usually attaches to the firewall of the engine with the aid of screws. If you put a screwdriver to these you'll find there can be given a bit of turning which is all to the good. Much electrical trouble is directly traceable to poor grounding.

Next, clean off the coil carefully with an absorbent, clean cloth. Any grease on its surface will collect dirt, which, in turn, holds moisture. That may result in external shorting of high tension current.

Appearance of wax oozing from the coil is not a sign of trouble. But check the connections which should be kept clean and tight.

Mechanic Joe Speaking:
"At this season it is well to consider the amount of mileage that is being put on the car since this will be the answer to whether or not it is well to drain off the original anti-freeze and install a fresh batch. It is common practice for fleet operators to use two batches of anti-freeze per winter and many drivers who customarily put on a lot of winter mileage should do likewise. It is simply a question of getting rid of coolant that has become acid through gradual leakage of combustion gases past the cylinder head gasket. The old solution can't be successfully neutralized, so it is better to replace it. For those whose winter mileage isn't unusual now is the time to make sure the strength of the solution is sufficient for the remainder of the cold days ahead."

First Thing to Check
It is sort of comforting to know that the usual reason for a skip in the motor when picking up speed is too wide spark plug gapping. This, in turn, is usually due to wear on the plug points from using plugs that are not sufficiently cool for the motor or for the way the particular car is operated.

Fifty-five per cent of all American automobiles are now eight years or more old — Over a million and a half have been on the road 17 years or more — One of my readers is named Dobbins — And the letterheads of one of the automobile trade magazines shows a large horse, this publication being offered as the workhorse of the trade — Lifetime mileage of cars has gone up 41 per cent since 1940 and now stands at 120,000.

Covers for Replacement
Motorists who worry about what to do if one of the wheel covers comes off and is lost during a fast run or in heavy traffic should be happy over the news that very good-looking replacements are available. These are of the universal type and will fit any cars with 15 and 16 inch wheels. A set of four plain heavily chromed wheel covers made by one company costs $22.50. Fancier models sell for $25.00 per set of four.

Usually when one of the covers is sufficiently loose or battered to come loose the other three are not likely to be in the pink of condition. So replacing the whole set isn't so hard to take.

RADIO

New York, Feb. 2 (P) — A 15-city "live" network of Dumont affiliates is being set up for tonight to carry an address by Harold E. Stassen. The 15-minute period was purchased by the Stassen for President committee, and according to a trade estimate, cost approximately $5,300.

The speeches introducing something new in sponsored political broadcasting since it establishes a policy of selling time preliminary to the national convention. Heretofore in both radio and TV such paid-for campaigning did not get under way until the presidential nominees had been picked.

The broadcast will come from New York at 11:03 during an extended intermission of the weekly wrestling matches which open from Chicago at 9:30. It is to go live to New York, New Haven, Pittsburgh, Rock Island, St. Louis, Syracuse, Schenectady, Washington, Boston, Utica, Binghamton, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus and Omaha.

Five other cities — Lancaster, Toledo, Minneapolis, Philadelphia and Chicago — will transmit from film recording at later dates.
